The 16th IACDE PG Convention was held at ITS Dental college Muradnagar Ghaziabad from 4th to 6th June 2015.

The theme for this convention was EXPLORE, ENRICH and EXCEL: REDEFING TOOTH CONSERVATION. This exclusive 3 day session involved innovative scientific deliberations that revealed new and contemporary trends of this speciality so as to help the young budding endodontists to excel in their practice and master the patient care.

The 3 day Scientific Extravaganza received an overwhelming response in terms of 1100 registrations from all across the country, involving 900 scientific presentations under 5 different categories involving: poster, paper, showcase of clinical excellence, quiz and the very first time introduced category of original video presentation by the young and aspiring Endodontists.

This sublime event was inaugurated by the gracious prescence of the excellencies, chief guest Retd Gen V.K Singh, Minister of state external affairs and Guest of honour, Lt General T.K Bandhyopadhyay, and presided by the chairman Dr R.P Chadha.

The major attraction in this convention were the preclinical courses and keynote lectures conducted by esteemed International Speakers, Dr. Noushad Rahim (U.K.), Dr. Alberto Dagna (ITALY) and Dr. Unnikrishnan (U.K.) and renowned national speakers.

There was also an exclusive panel discussion on the topic: PREPARATION AND PLANNING FOR PG EXAM: EXaminers AND STUDENTS PERSPECTIVE involving panelists from all 4 zones of the country. It was a two way interactive session in which the panelists and students both put forth their views and opinions.

The event ended with a thrilling banquet night, lavish food menu and tantalizing ambience prepared for the students, guests and the delegates. And to add a new flavour to the fun element, DJ Barkha was invited for the banquet night.
